Governors Medical Tower opens, includes “green” features

(Huntsville, AL) Governors Medical Tower, a 4-story landmark medical facility, will mark its opening with the ribbon cutting of the building’s major tenant The Spine & Neuro Center Friday, Nov. 21 at 11 a.m. at 201 Governors Drive.

The 124,500 square foot tower opened to patients on Monday, Nov. 17 with the relocation of The Spine & Neuro Center from Rand Avenue. The $37 million building’s most notable feature, its curving glass façade, features energy efficient windows to conserve power.

Patients and physicians have convenient access to Huntsville Hospital via a new pedestrian sky bridge located on the second floor. A five and a half story attached parking deck will provide convenient entry for patients with more than 460 parking spaces. Governors Medical Tower is expected to generate $225,000 in annual property taxes for the City of Huntsville.

Various physician groups as well as Inkana Development of Birmingham currently have ownership in Governors Medical Tower. The remaining tenants will move into the tower between now and February and include Tennessee Valley Pain Consultants, Huntsville Hospital Outpatient Surgery, Digestive Disease Center, Neurology Consultants of Huntsville and The Cancer Center of Huntsville.

The Spine and Neuro Center is the region’s leading spine and neurosurgery center with surgical and non-surgical spine services. Our expanded offering includes non-invasive treatments and comprehensive spine therapy. Physicians include Rhett Murray, M.D., Joel Pickett, M.D., John Johnson, Jr., M.D., Cheng Tao, M.D. Jason Banks, M.D. and Keith Anderson, D.O.
