

NEWS RELEASE

April 13, 2004

For more information, contact:
Marsha Garner
CAS, Inc.
533-5800

CAS, INC. BREAKS GROUND FOR NEW 80,000 SQUARE FOOT FACILITY

Huntsville, Alabama CAS, Inc. is proud to announce its decision to consolidate all of its Huntsville-based operations into one new office complex – located in Thorton Research Park on Old Madison Pike. The new CAS Inc “Campus” will ultimately provide offices for approximately 700, of the over 850 current employees located throughout the United States and overseas.

CAS, Inc. was incorporated in 1979 as a small business and in early 1980 won its first contract to provide systems engineering and technical assistance for the PATRIOT Project Office, here in Huntsville. After 24 years, the company continues to support PATRIOT and the Lower Tier Project Office, along with Command, Control and Communications (C3), Air and Missile Defense, Tactical Missiles, Aviation Systems, and Strategic Defense (including Homeland Security). From inception, CAS has established a legacy of excellence, credibility and integrity through its dedicated support of the customer and firm commitment to community service. Through the years CAS, Inc. has remained steadfastly to three principles: EXCELLENCE in customer service, RESPECT for the individual employee and family, and INTEGRITY in all aspects of business.

CAS has received both the outstanding small business and best managed small business awards in Huntsville and Madison County. For its support in theater during Operation Desert Shield/Desert Storm, CAS received the Department of Defense’s award for patriotic civilian service. CAS Inc. currently has personnel deployed in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

With nearly a quarter of century of successful business behind us, CAS Inc. looks forward to its new home in Thorton Research Park – where its dedicated team of professionals can continue to grow, excel, and serve its customers and the community in modern facilities designed for the future.

Comments by Bill Stender:

“In this, the year that CAS recognizes its 25th anniversary of business in Huntsville, we are very proud to have the groundbreaking for this first phase of the CAS Huntsville Campus. We look forward to the continued development of this campus so that we can eventually bring all CAS personnel in Huntsville into one geographic area. We want to thank the CAS customers who have had the faith in our company to allow the growth, which has resulted in this new facility. We also want to thank the employees of our company for their dedication to the CAS principles which have made this the great organization that it is.”

Comments by Triad Properties:

Triad Properties will develop the single story research and development building which will consist of architecturally articulated cast in place concrete walls with glass storefront entrances and punched window openings. The completion date and occupancy is scheduled for September 30, 2004. The building was designed by Fuqua Osborn architects and will be owned by Tera Properties, LLC. “Triad is excited to continue its planned expansion of its Huntsville operations by developing a highly visible single-story facility for a prestigious firm such as CAS,” stated Ms. Karen Taylor, principal of Triad Commercial. Headquartered in Huntsville, Triad Properties has a Southeast regional office in Atlanta and a Southwest regional office in Dallas. Since commencing operations in 1994, Triad properties has acquired and developed more than seven (7) million square feet of commercial real estate in cities such as Huntsville, Atlanta, Dallas, Nashville, Memphis and Orlando, to name a few.